Index of contents In this fun adjectives of feeling and emotion game, students play battleships using family vocabulary and adjectives of feeling and emotion. In pairs, students start by marking four ships on their 'My ships' grid. Students then take it in turns to choose a square on their 'My partner's ships' grid. However, instead of giving a grid reference to find a ship, the student makes a yes/no question using the corresponding family vocabulary and adjective of feeling or emotion, e.g. 'Is your mother happy?' Their partner listens to the question, looks at their 'My ships' grid and answers according to whether it is a hit or miss. If it is a hit, their partner replies 'yes', e.g. 'Yes, she is'. If it is a miss, their partner replies 'no', e.g. 'No, she isn't'. The student then marks the square with an 'H' for hit or 'X' for miss. The first student to sink all their partner's ships wins the game. In this adjectives of feeling game, students play bingo by making true sentences about how they feel in certain situations. Students take it in turns to roll the feelings dice. The feelings dice shows the adjectives: happy, sad, scared, bored, angry and excited. Students look at the sentences on their bingo card and write the feeling shown on the dice in one of the sentences, making the sentence true for them. For example, if the feeling shown on the dice was 'excited', a student who likes sports might write the adjective in the following sentence: I feel excited when I watch sports. After each student has written the adjective in a suitable sentence, they read their sentence aloud to the group to show it is true. If a student cannot truthfully write the adjective in any sentence, they write nothing for that round. The first student to get four squares in a row wins and shouts 'bingo'. Exercise Instructions: Choose the correct answer. In many languages, adjectives denoting attributes usually occur in a specific order. Generally, the adjective order in English is: Quantity or number Quality or opinion Size Age Shape Color Proper adjective (often nationality, other place of origin, or material) Purpose or qualifier For example: I love that really big old green antique car that always parked at the end of the street. My sister adopted a beautiful big white bulldog. When there are two or more adjectives that are from the same group, the word and is placed between the two adjectives: The house is green and red. The library has old and new books. When there are three or more adjectives from the same adjective group, place a comma between each of the coordinate adjectives: We live in the big green, white and red house at the end of the street. My friend lost a red, black and white watch. A comma is not placed between an adjective and the noun. Order of adjectives - examples Determiner Quantity or number Quality or opinion Size Age Shape Color Proper adjective Purpose or qualifier Noun A beautiful old Italian sports car The three beautiful little gold plates An amazing heart-shaped red and white sofa More examples: I love that beautiful old big green antique car that always parked at the end of the street. Which sentence uses the correct order of adjectives? During my college years, I wore a red, white and black big hat to sporting events. During my college years, I wore a big red, white and black hat to sporting events. Answer: B As well as serving as modifying words like beautiful and big, adjectives are also used for indicating the position on a scale of comparison. The lowest point on the scale is known as the positive form, the middle point is known as the comparative form, and the highest point is known as the superlative form. Here are some examples: Positive Comparative Superlative This book is long. This book is longer than that book. This is the longest book. The airport is far. The airport is farther than the train station. This is the farthest airport. My mom is a good cook. My mom is a better cook than your mom. My mom is the best cook. The comparative form When two objects or persons are being compared, the comparative form of the adjective is used. The comparative adjective can be formed in two ways: Adding -er to the positive form of the adjective. Adding the word more before the adjective. For example: My essay is longer than yours. She is more beautiful than her sister. Here are the rules for choosing and forming the right form: Add When Example Forming and Exceptions -er Words of one syllable This is a longer book. Words ending with 'e', add 'r' to the end of the word (e.g., lame -> lamer). Words with one vowel and one consonant at the end, double the consonant and add -er to the end of the word (e.g., big -> bigger). Words with more than one vowel or more than one consonant at the end, add -er to the end of the word (e.g., hard -> harder), -er Words of two syllables ending with 'y' This doll is prettier. Change 'y' to 'i', and add -er to the end of the word. more Words of two syllables not ending with 'y' He is more charming than his friend. Insert more before the adjective more Three syllable words or longer This is a more powerful cable. Insert more before the adjective When comparing two things, the word that is positioned between the adjective and the thing being compared. For example: Apples are tastier than oranges. This painting is more interesting than that painting. Superlatives The superlative is used to say what thing or person has the most of a particular quality within a group or of its kind. The superlative can be formed in two ways: Adding -est to the positive form of the adjective. Adding the word most before the adjective. For example: This is the most beautiful dress I have ever seen. The biggest table in the room. Here are the rules for choosing and forming the right form: Add When Example Forming and Exceptions -est Words of one syllable This is the longest book. Words ending with 'e', add 'st' to the end of the word (e.g., large -> largest). Words with one vowel and one consonant at the end, double the consonant and add -est to the end of the word (e.g., big -> biggest). Words with more than one vowel or more than one consonant at the end, add -est to the end of the word (e.g., blue -> bluest), -est Words of two syllables ending with 'y' This doll is the prettiest. Change 'y' to 'i', and add -est to the end of the word. most Words of two syllables not ending with 'y' He is the most charming boy at school. Insert most before the adjective most Three syllable words or longer This is the most powerful story. Insert most before the adjective Superlatives are usually preceded by the word the. Positive form The positive form is used in cases where there are no differences between the two compared things or persons. To form the positive, we use the word as before and after the positive form of the adjective. For example: Danny is as smart as Phillip. She is as beautiful as her older sister. This can also be applied in a negative context to indicate that the compared objects are not similar: Danny is not as smart as Phillip. She is not as beautiful as her older sister. Exceptions (irregular forms) Certain adjectives have irregular forms in the comparative and superlative degrees: Positive Comparative Superlative Good Better Best Bad Worse Worst Little Less Least Much/many/some More Most Examples of comparing adjectives This house is bigger than that one. This flower is more beautiful than that. He is taller than Mr. Hulas. He is more intelligent than this boy. Jonathan is the most handsome man on campus. This is the prettiest dress in the window.
